

Green Deal in dialogue

Social Policy in Challenging Times: Europe's Homework and Opportunities for a Future-Proof Welfare State

The European Pillar of Social Rights is regarded as a compass for a future-proof social policy in the EU member states. Their concrete implementation will be the yardstick for a social and democratic Europe that leaves no one behind. In particular, the recent crises have brought our social protection systems back into focus: How can welfare state benefits and offers be further developed in order to strengthen confidence in the future? How can pressing social issues such as the climate crisis, structural change and digitalisation be successfully tackled without restricting the room for manoeuvre of future generations? These and other questions were discussed.

Please also see the report of the European Commission in attach.